

CERTIFICATE IN INTERNATIONAL AND COMPARATIVE LAW
Learning Outcomes

It is expected that graduates of this certificate program will have mastered the fundamentals of public international law, conflict of laws, international business transactions, international litigation and arbitration, and comparative law. With the guidance of faculty advisors, each graduate will also be expected to have developed a practical understanding of two or more of the following specialty subjects: civil law traditions in Europe, Latin America